

An aerial photograph of the city of Ghent, Belgium. The image shows a mix of historic architecture, including the spires of St. Nicholas' Church and the Ghent Town Hall, and modern buildings like the tall, white, cylindrical tower of the Ghent University Library. A large blue rectangular box is overlaid on the left side of the image, containing white text. The bottom of the image shows a street-level view of colorful buildings with red-tiled roofs.

GET A TASTE OF GHENT UNIVERSITY

- Top 100 university
- Vibrant city life
- 1,500 incoming exchange students per year from 70 nationalities
- Wide variety of courses taught in English

Watch our welcome videos on www.welcome-to-ghent-university.be Ready to fall in love?

If an exchange experience is on your bucket list, but you're still narrowing down your destinations, we can tell you here and now that you'll feel right at home in Ghent and at Ghent University.

The city is best explored by walking the streets, exploring the Museum of Fine Arts or grabbing a beer in a cosy pub, ... But we've come up with an alternative that is as close to the real thing as it gets!

Watch the videos on our website to have a local guide show you everything you need to know – from mobility in the city to study options at Ghent University.

welcome-to-ghent-university.be Happy exploring!

Ghent University

