Maren - Universitat de València, Spain
Subdomain: Behaviour & Environment

The university of València offers many interesting courses for the subdomains Behaviour & Environment and Development & Mental Health, like Road Traffic Security, Social Sports Psychology, Developmental Disorders and Learning Difficulties, or Psychology of Addictions. You can deepen your knowledge in these fields with many practical tasks in interactive and small classes, which is very different from the RU teaching style. More group work, more practical cases to clarify the contents, and more personal contact with the teachers distinguish the UV from the RU. This was, what made me develop problem-solving skills that bridge personal, linguistic, and cultural differences – which are an important tool for my future career as a psychologist plus for me as a person.
