

This free CMR newsletter is published by the Centre for Migration Law, Faculty of Law of Radboud University Nijmegen (The Netherlands)
New subscribers to this newsletter or those who do not wish to receive this newsletter can email: webmaster.cmr@jur.ru.nl
Older versions of this newsletter are available at our website: www.ru.nl/law/cmr/news

Newsletter

Newsletter

In Print

Shortly

Public Defense

Ricky van Oers

will publicly defend her dissertation:

Deserving Citizenship
Citizenship tests in Germany, the Netherlands and the United Kingdom

1 March 2013
12:30 hours
Aula, Radboud University Nijmegen

Public Defense

Dana Baldinger

will publicly defend her dissertation:

Rigorous Scrutiny versus Marginal Review
Standards on judicial scrutiny and evidence in international and European asylum law

16 April 2013
10:30 hours
Aula, Radboud University Nijmegen

upcoming Seminars

* Seminar – 19/21 June 2013

Islamic Family Law

* Seminar – 28 February 2013

Family Reunification Policies

Appointments

Betty de Hart has been appointed (one day/week) professor of Migration Law at the University of Amsterdam (UvA)

We would like to draw your attention to a number of recently published books

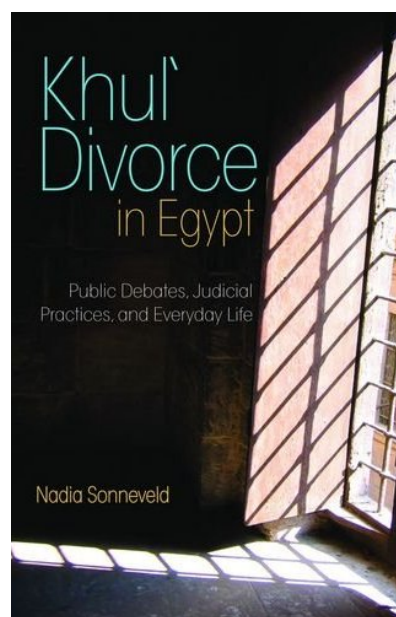

Recently published

Which Integration Policies for Migrants? Interaction between the EU and its Member States

by: Yves Pascouau, Tineke Strik (eds.)
Wolf Legal Publishers

Integration policies are at the forefront of EU and national debates. At EU level, integration issues have gained extensive importance in the framework of the development of an EU migration policy. At national level, discourses about failed integration policies have put integration policies under high pressure in political and legislative debates. Thereby, an interaction between the EU level and the national level can be observed. A general trend emerges where immigration and integration policies become increasingly interconnected. More precisely, migrants' access to a (stronger) legal status is becoming dependent on their level of integration. This book contains the updated outcomes of a conference where these interactions have been scrutinised. The first part demonstrates that several instruments are adopted at EU level that frame the emergence of a European Integration Policy which has an effect on national policies. The second part outlines a trend in Member States to require third country nationals to fulfil integration obligations. If such a trend is fuelled by growing EU attention, EU rules may also limit their effect. Part three analyses three national models as examples of integration policies with mandatory elements. The final part explores the effects of such integration requirements on the position of migrants: their integration and their residence rights.

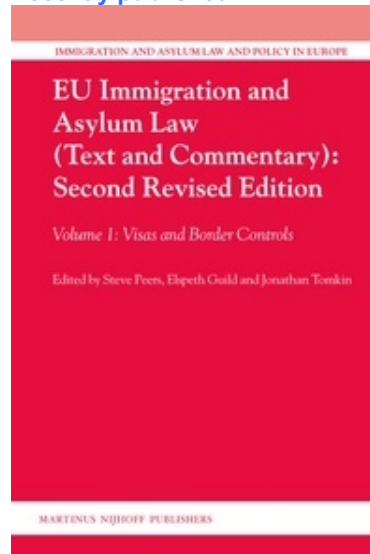

Khul' Divorce in Egypt: Public Debates, Judicial Practices, and Everyday Life

by Nadia Sonneveld
The American University in Cairo Press

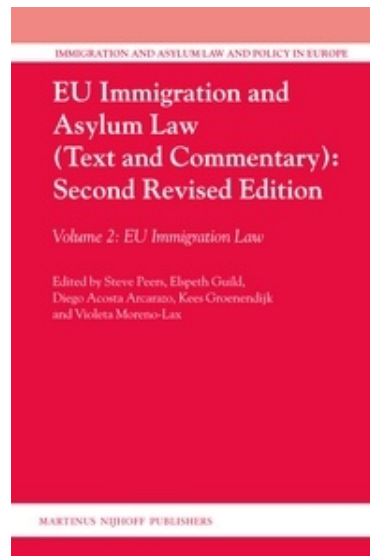

At the beginning of the twenty-first century, Egyptian women gained the unique right to divorce their husbands unilaterally through a procedure called khul'. This has been a controversial application; notwithstanding attempts to present the law as being grounded in Islamic law, opponents claim that khul' is a privileged women's law, and a western conspiracy aimed at destroying Egyptian family life and, by extension, Egyptian society. In Khul' Divorce in Egypt, Nadia Sonneveld explores the nature of the public debates-including the portrayal of khul' in films and cartoons-while an examination of the application of khul' in the courts and everyday life relates and compares this debate to the actual implementation of the procedure. She makes it clear that the points of controversy bear little resemblance to the lives of the lower-middle-class women who apply for khul'; they merely reflect profound changes in the institutions of marriage and family.

p. 3/4

Recently publishedEU Immigration and Asylum Law: (Text and Commentary).*Vol. 1 Visas and Border Controls (Immigration and Asylum Law and Policy in Europe, 27).by Steve Peers, Elspeth Guild and Jonathan Tomkin
Leiden: Nijhoff

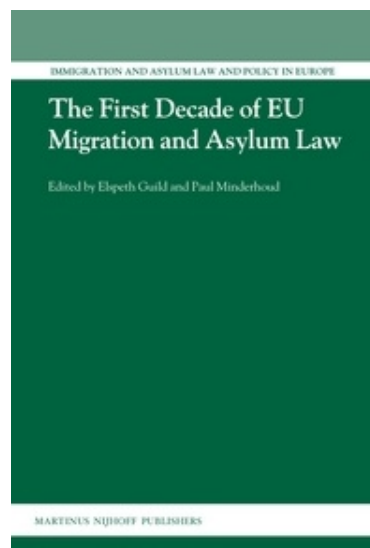

Since 1999, the EU has adopted legislation harmonizing many areas of immigration law, in particular rules on borders, visas, legal migration, and irregular migration.

The much-enlarged and fully updated second edition of this book contains the text of and detailed commentary upon every significant measure in this field proposed or adopted up until 1 September 2011. It includes commentary on the EU visa code, the Schengen Borders Code, the Frontex Regulation, the Returns Directive, the Directives on family reunion, long-term residents and single permits for migrant workers, and many more besides. This is the essential guide for any lawyers, academics, civil servants, NGOs and students interested in this area of law.

EU Immigration and Asylum Law: (Text and Commentary).*Vol. 2 EU Immigration Law (Immigration and Asylum Law and Policy in Europe, 28)by Steve Peers, Elspeth Guild, Diego Acosta Arcarazo, Kees Groenendijk, & Violeta Moreno-Lax
Leiden: Nijhoff

Since 1999, the EU has adopted legislation harmonizing many areas of immigration law, in particular rules on borders, visas, legal migration, and irregular migration.

The much-enlarged and fully updated second edition of this book contains the text of and detailed commentary upon every significant measure in this field proposed or adopted up until 1 September 2011. It includes commentary on the EU visa code, the Schengen Borders Code, the Frontex Regulation, the Returns Directive, the Directives on family reunion, long-term residents and single permits for migrant workers, and many more besides. This is the essential guide for any lawyers, academics, civil servants, NGOs and students interested in this area of law.

The First Decade of EU Migration and Asylum Law (Immigration and Asylum Law and Policy in Europe, 24)by Paul Minderhoud & Elspeth Guild
Leiden: Martinus Nijhoff

More than a decade has passed since the appearance of the first issue of the European Journal of Migration and Law, which was established to examine the intertwining of issues of law and migration in the EU. This volume has been compiled to celebrate that anniversary. The journal itself is the basis for the book: authors who have written the most significant contributions for the journal on the relevant issues to the Area of Freedom Security and Justice (AFSJ) have revised and updated their articles in light of current developments. These are supplemented with new chapters on issues which have turned out to be particularly important to the development of the field. The success of the journal has demonstrated the need for informed, independent academic research on the changing nature of immigration and asylum in Europe, and this volume too seeks to meet that need. It offers a unique and lively collection of essays covering the field of EU immigration and asylum law from a variety of perspectives

p. 4/4

Recently published In Dutch

Een tweede paspoort, dubbele nationaliteit in de VS, D en NL

door: Betty De Hart
Amsterdam University Press

Dubbele nationaliteit is in Nederland de laatste jaren onderwerp van hevig debat. De Hart laat in deze historische en internationaal vergelijkende studie zien dat dergelijke debatten niet uniek zijn voor deze tijd, noch voor Nederland. Een analyse van politieke debatten in de Verenigde Staten, Duitsland en Nederland sinds 1945 leert dat er tegen een dubbele nationaliteit heel verschillend wordt aangekeken, afhankelijk van de context en de groep waarover gesproken wordt.

De analyse wordt afgewisseld met interviews met immigranten, emigranten en leden van gemengde gezinnen over de soms zeer persoonlijke betekenis van dubbele nationaliteit. Aan bod komen onder meer discussies over dubbele nationaliteit van Japans-Amerikanen tijdens de Tweede Wereldoorlog, van Nederlandse emigranten in Zuid-Afrika in de jaren tachtig, en van moslims in de war on terror na 11 september 2001.

Migratierecht (Boom Basics) 2e druk

door: Carolus Grütters, Karin Zwaan, Roel Fernhout, Kees Groenendijk, Anjo Hekman, Miriam Kullmann, Maike Luiten, Paul Minderhoud, Ricky van Oers, & Tineke Strik
Den Haag: Boom Juridische uitgeverij

Het basishandboek voor het onderwijs.

Rechtspraak vreemdelingenrecht 2011.

door: Hemme Battjes & Karin Zwaan (Eds.)
Nijmegen: Ars Aequi Libri