0. Conversion Manual

The examination board is responsible for the determination and recognition of the converted study load and the converted grades.

Manual for the conversion of the study load

- Check if the country in question is listed in Table 1 (page 6). That list contains all the countries using the ECTS-system.
- If yes, the conversion is 1 foreign EC = 1 Dutch EC.
If not: Check if the country/institution in question is listed in Table 2 (page 7).
If that is the case, use the conversion scheme from that list.
- If the country/institution is not listed in one of the two tables, the study load has to be determined by evaluating the course description provided by the foreign institution. By looking at the amount of contact hours, the amount of self-study hours, the obligatory literature, the examination, etc. an estimate of the study load can be made. Generally this has to be done by a lecturer/professor responsible for a similar course here in Nijmegen. Ask for more information at the International Office and/or the EP-Nuffic.

Manual for the conversion of grades

- Check if the university in question is listed at Egracons (<http://egracons.eu/>). If yes, follow the Egracons manual for the correct conversion.
- If no: Check if the university has a Frequency table of their own. Compare this frequency table with the frequency table of the student's program here at Radboud University. Try to use the frequency table of similar programs. Check your estimate of the grades with the conversion provided in the list of countries provided in this document.
- Does the specific university not have any frequency tables? Then take a look at the conversion table for each country listed in this document. If there are two options for conversion mentioned in the table – for example A+ equals 10-9.5 – award the lowest of the provided grades, which would be a 9.5 in the example. If there are three options for conversion mentioned in the table – for example A+ equals 10-9 – it is recommended to award the middle or lowest option (in this example 9 or 9.5). This is due to the “conservative grade culture” in the Netherlands, meaning that higher grades are rarely awarded in the Netherlands. Only award the higher/highest option for conversion if it is explicitly noted that the student passed outstandingly well, for example when the note “with distinction” is mentioned on the Transcript of Records. Also the explicit proof that a student passed an exam/test without any mistakes can result in awarding the highest option for conversion, in this example a 10.

Manual for the recognition of grades

2. Grade conversion tables

EU- and non EU-countries

As a first step we made a division between EU- and non EU-countries. Within these two subsets the countries have been ordered alphabetically. We have only included countries in which Radboud University has a partner university.

Explanation of the grade conversion tables

For each country we have indicated:

- The structure of the higher education system, i.e. the degrees of the different university levels (first stage, second stage, third stage), including the length of the programmes.
- A description of the grading system.
- A conversion scheme, indicating how the foreign grade should be converted into a Dutch grade.

I. Conversion tables for EU-countries

Austria

Structure of higher education

- University level first stage: Bachelor:
- University level second stage: Master: 1-2 years
- University level third stage: Doktoratstudien: 4-8 semesters

Description of grading system

Belgium

Structure of higher education

- University first level stage (bachelor) = 3 years
- University second level (master) = 1 or 2 years

Description of grading system

Two systems are used: a percentage system and a point value system.

- Percentage
 - Met voldoening Satisfactory 60%
 - Met onderscheiding Distinction 70%
 - Met grote onderscheiding High distinction 80%
 - Met grootste onderscheiding Highest distinction 90%
 - Pass/fail level: met voldoening 11
- Point value
 - Highest on scale 20
 - Pass/fail level 12
 - Lowest on scale 11
- Katholieke Universiteit Leuven uses its own grading system, as indicated in the scheme.
- University of Antwerp considers 11 to be a pass, so in that case $11 \approx 6.0$.

Hungary

Structure of higher education

- Hungary has a dual system with colleges and universities, but colleges exist as faculties within the universities and some universities give college-level subjects. All universities use the EC system since 2003 and since 2006 the programmes have been classified according to the bachelor-master system. The grading system is nationally recognized.
- University ≈ 4-5 years (undergraduate, but sometimes called 'master').

Description of grading system

- Point scale 5-1, equivalent to Letter system a-E

Ireland

Structure of higher education

- University first level stage (bachelor): 3 to 4 years (undergraduate)
- University second level (master): 1 year (postgraduate)

Description of grading system

- Letter symbol
 - A Excellent / Outstanding
 - B Above average
 - C Average
 - D Below average
 - E Fail
- In contradiction with the EC grading system an E at an Irish university is a Fail, but with compensation it can become a Sufficient.
- Letter grades are sometimes subdivided. University College Dublin uses '+', flat, and '-', whereas the University of Limerick generally only uses '+' and '-'.
- For the University of Limerick C- is the lowest Sufficient grade.
- Separate schemes for these two universities are given.

Latvia

Structure of higher Education:

In Latvia, tertiary education programmes are provided by:

- university type institutions of augstskola,
- non-university type institutions of augstskola,
- koledža.

The Law on Institutions of Higher Education makes distinction between university-type and non-university-type institutions. While non-university-type institutions run professional programmes, universities often offer both academic and professional programmes.

Bachelor:

Higher education institutions may independently determine the timetable for students. The capacity of studies is measured in credit points (credits). The amount of full-time and part-time Bachelor study programmes is from 120 to 160 credit points including at least 10 credit points for Bachelor thesis. Full-time studies last from six to eight semesters.

Latvia's credit point is defined as a full-time weekly study load. The credit point system is compatible with European Credit Transfer System (ECTS) and is used for both accumulation and transfer since its implementation. The number of ECTS credits is found by multiplying the number of Latvian credit points by a factor of 1.5. In Latvia, one credit corresponds to 40 academic hours (one study week) of which up to 50% are expected to be contact hours.

Full-time studies correspond to 40 credit points in an academic year and at least 40 academic hours a week. Part-time studies correspond to less than 40 credit points in an academic year and less than 40 academic hours a week.

Lithuania

Structure of higher education

University-level studies are organized in three cycles: first cycle (undergraduate); second cycle (graduate); and third cycle (post-graduate). The national credit system is based on an average of 1600 working hours per academic year, one credit corresponding to 40 hours or one week of work.

University first level stage (bachelor): University undergraduate (first cycle) studies (universitetinės pagrindinės (pirmosios pakopos) studijos): 4 to 5.5 years (140 to 180 national credits).

Description of grading system

- Point scale: 1-10
 - 10 Puikiai Excellent
 - 9 Labai gerai Very good
 - 8 Gerai Good
 - 7 Pakankamai Highly satisfactory
 - 6 Patenkinamai Satisfactory
 - 5 Silpnai Sufficient
 - 4-1 Insufficient

Other main grading systems

Alongside the 10 point system, institutions may use the pass/fail system.

Examinations and work defence evaluations, as a rule, are graded. For the courses that do not end with an examination, the pass system is used to test if students have earned the credits allocated to it. Students succeed when they prove they have assimilated not less than 50% of the required knowledge.

- The foreign higher education institutions which want to operate on the territory of the SR and come from a member country of the European Union may provide education according to legislation of the State of their place of residence.

Bachelor:

The first cycle study programmes – Bachelor study programmes are aimed at acquisition of theoretical knowledge and practical knowledge based on the recent state in the science or art and at management of its use in practice or in continuation in further higher education study. Bachelor study programme graduates achieve the higher education of the first level and receive academic degree of Bachelor (abbr. “Bc.”). Duration of the study is 3 – 4 years. Depending on the standard length of study it is necessary to get 180 up to 240 credits.

The organisation of all levels and forms of higher education study is based on the credit system. The credit system of study enables by credits to evaluate the student’s load connected with the completion of the units of study programme in agreement with the rules contained in the study programme. The standard load is expressed by the number of credits as follows: 60 for academic year, 30 credits for semester and 20 credits for trimester.

Switzerland

Structure of higher education:

In Switzerland, the higher education system at University-level consists of ten cantonal Universities, two federal Institutes of Technology and seven Universities of Applied Sciences (Fachhochschulen), as well as the recently founded Schools for Teacher Education and many Advanced Vocational Colleges. Private universities only offer postgraduate studies. There is no numerus clausus for subjects studied at University, except for Medicine at the German-speaking Universities.

- University level first stage: Basic studies/Diploma studies/Bachelor studies:
Universities: The first period of long-cycle study is essentially devoted to broadly-based studies. It takes 2 to 6 semesters and generally ends with intermediate examinations called Vordiplomprüfungen, Akzessprüfungen, Demi-licence or Propädeutika (medicine), depending on the subject and the university. Universities of Applied Sciences: Undergraduate studies last from 6 to 8 semesters and culminate in the award of a Diploma.

- University level second stage: Main studies/Master studies:
The second period (main studies) is devoted to in-depth study, often with some specializations. After a further 4 semesters, a Lizentiat/Licence is conferred in Arts, Law and Science. A further 5 semesters are required for the Diploma/Diplôme in Engineering. In Medicine, a total of 10 semesters is required, whereas in Dentistry, Pharmacy and Veterinary Medicine, a total of 12 to 12 semesters is needed.

- University level third stage: Postgraduate studies:
Shorter postgraduate courses leading to the award of a Certificate or a Diploma are offered by Universities and Universities of Applied Sciences. They are usually part-time courses and have a vocational orientation. Meanwhile, some Universities and Universities of Applied Sciences are also offering further training via advanced Master programmes (at least 60 credits) to be known as MAS (Master of Advanced Studies). The Doctorate in Switzerland is regarded as a stage of postgraduate education.

Description of main grading system

- The most commonly numerical grading systems in use is a 6-1 scale

Description of main grading system

- Grading systems are determined by each institution.
- Most institutions use a Letter grading system A-D, with F for fail.
- Subdivisions like '+' and '-' may or may not be used, depending on the institution.
